

Digital Learning Policy

Initial Review. All 100% online and hybrid (more than 50% online) course designs will be collaboratively reviewed by the college instructional designer and the faculty-designer using the current Quality Matters (QM) rubric. Faculty must seek input from the designer at the start of the course development process, and all modules of the course must be